

Jeremy Holder is
Site Of The Day editor for UK Plus.

Site of the Day

Wednesday, 21 July 1999

Now getting to grips with elements is elementary

Periodic tables, elements, carbon, cadmium ... for many of us these words conjure up stuffy chemistry lessons at school. Now the Royal Chemistry Society in this web site have enlisted artists to help get us interested in the materials that make up the objects around us. For example, clicking on Pb in a colour peiodic table brings up an impressive illustration inspired by lead with interesting background info. Did you know the name comes from the Anglo-Saxon "laeden"?

Now, what's your favourite web site?