

Acknowledgements

The editor would like to express his heartfelt thanks to the many authors who contributed to this volume. He would also like to thank his wife, Angela, for her love and support. Finally, but not least, the editor would like to recognize the support of the British Carbon Group (registered charity 207890, which itself is affiliated to The Royal Society of Chemistry, The Institute of Physics and The Society of the Chemical Industry) and the Organising Committee of the conference without which this book would not exist.
