

Acknowledgements

The authors of this text acknowledge their debt to Cyril Keattch, Robert Mackenzie and David Dollimore.

It is also a pleasure to acknowledge the contribution made by the instrument manufacturers over many years. They are listed in the Appendices, and the brochures, application notes and personal help which they have given, and continue to give, plays a vital part in the use of thermal and calorimetric analysis. The Group gratefully acknowledges their permission to use several of the diagrams in this text.

The Thermal Methods Group maintains a web site, through the Royal Society of Chemistry at <http://thermalmethodsgroup.org.uk> and a list server whereby requests for information and queries about techniques may be exchanged. If you wish to join the TMG Internet Newsgroup, please follow the instructions on the TMG web site.

Thanks are due to many people, particularly Dr Trevor Lever and Dr Michael Richardson for their help in preparing this book.
