

The BCPC Congress 2015

A Positive Outlook for the Regulation of Pesticides in Europe?

6 - 7 OCTOBER | BRIGHTON | UK

Following two successful years since its reintroduction to Brighton, this year's event is aimed toward all stakeholders in the crop protection industry across Europe including manufacturers and formulators of pesticide and biopesticide products, marketing organisations, consultants, contract laboratories, academics, industry and grower associations.

Entitled "A Positive Outlook for the Regulation of Pesticides in Europe" this is a challenging topic but one in which delegates can hear from, and discuss with, experts on solutions to the complex and arguably onerous regulatory environment. The challenges are well documented and repeated in similar events. However, we aim to acquire a collective note of optimism for the future of the industry.

We will deliver a programme of relevant, engaging presentations from influential industry and government representatives, academics, lawyers and leading consultants.

Our exhibition will again provide a lively and interesting networking space for all delegates and there will also be a Pre Event Welcome Drinks Reception and a Congress Dinner.
