Meeting Synopsis

This meeting organised by the Formulation Science and Technology Group of the Royal Society of Chemistry is arranged in the honour of Professor Gordon Tiddy- a world expert in surface, colloid and formulation science. The exciting programme includes talks from many world renowned surface and colloid chemists including:

- Hakan Wennerstrom University of Lund
- Roger Davey University of Manchester
- Patrick Warren Unilever
- Helen Gleeson University of Manchester
- John Lydon University of Leeds
- Peter Garrett University of Manchester
- Gilbert Schorsch Former Director of R&D, Rhône-Poulenc Specialities
- Mike Anderson University of Manchester
- Gordon Tiddy University of Manchester

Topics to be covered include surfactants and foams, colloid chemistry, liquid crystals, soft solids and silicones.

Celebration Dinner

The registration fee includes a three course celebration dinner + wine to be held in the fantastic Power Hall of the Science and Industry Museum in Manchester on the evening of the meeting. During the dinner, the machines in the Power Hall will all be working and delegates will have the opportunity to travel from the exhibition hall to the Power Hall on the Science Museum's working Planet steam train!

Papers

Delegates are invited to submit posters for the event so that we can make this celebration of surface colloid and formulation science really special. Submissions in the following areas are invited:

- Self assembly in surfactant systems
- Froth and foam
- Crystal engineering and the role of liquid crystals

If you wish to submit a poster, please submit your abstract to flor.siperstein@manchester.ac.uk
