

RSC Notes

April 2008

Dear Colleague

Welcome to the latest issue of RSC Notes, keeping you up-to-date with what's happening in RSC Publishing. You are welcome to contact us (sales@rsc.org) either if you have any comments, or if you feel that you are not the appropriate person to receive these newsletters.

Kind regards

Valerie Simpson
Product Marketing Manager

PS Please pass this on to any colleagues who you think would be interested. They can also sign up to receive their own copy.

Free access in April ...

If your organisation has online access to one or more journals from RSC Publishing, you and your readers can enjoy a month of free access to all RSC journal content published between 1997 and the present day. This free access, which is being provided to our customers to thank them for their support for RSC journals, runs from April 1st to April 30th. Full details

RSC Prospect – now with structure searching!

One of the new features just introduced for RSC Prospect enhanced HTML articles is a structure and sub-structure searching function, which allows users to find relevant articles fast. Read more about the new features and how they add unique value to RSC journals.

Visit us at the ACS Spring National Meeting and win an iPod...

To find out more, come and visit booth 411 at the ACS Spring National Meeting & Exposition in New Orleans, USA, 6-10th April 2008. We will be having cookies and cakes to celebrate the summer launch of our new journal, Energy & Environmental Science. You can also meet RSC staff, who will be willing to discuss any issues you may have, as well as look at the latest developments from RSC Publishing. More details

Chocolate or Calixarenes?

Now covering more than 750 titles, the RSC eBook Collection includes recent releases The Science of Chocolate, Calixarenes and Powder Diffraction. A chapter from each book is available for anyone to view – go online today

A reminder about access to RSC Journals

If you are being denied online access to RSC Journals, but have renewed your subscription for 2008 through an agent – perhaps the agent still needs to send us your order. Please contact them to find out the status of your renewal.

Have you registered yet? Free access to all 2008 and 2009 content of our latest new journal, Energy & Environmental Science, is available to those who register. Visit the website for details

RSC Publishing

www.rsc.org/publishing