

In this issue:

- The RSC Publishing platform is launched
- ChemSpider wins two awards and is now available on mobile devices
- New collateral available - Impact factors, price list and new RSC Publishing catalogue
- New titles – Catalysis Science & Technology, Chemical Science and Food & Function
- 9 journals freely available to access
- New – 26 ebooks for 2010 and the new print book series
- Events

NB - Make sure you add this email address, rscpublishing@rsc.org to your safe email list so you can continue to receive your Librarian Newsletter.

Dear Colleague

Welcome to the latest issue of the Royal Society of Chemistry (RSC) Publishing newsletter for librarians and information specialists – RSC Notes. If you feel there is anything missing in this newsletter, please let me know by replying to this email.

Did you know RSC has a library? You can see our library featured on the RSC Notes banner above and the RSC Publishing Catalogue front cover. For more information, go to our website

If you feel this newsletter would be of interest to any colleagues, please forward on and ask them to sign up online to Librarian News.

=====

The RSC Publishing Platform is Launched!

RSC Publishing

We are very pleased to announce that the RSC Publishing platform is now launched. Librarians and Information Specialists can access a dedicated Librarians' Portal where you can:

- manage your RSC subscriptions
- personalise your profile and account
- add new IP addresses
- add your institution logo and text
- access your Sales Manager and regional contact details

Migration

For more comprehensive information on the migration from the existing website to the new platform
GO TO www.rsc.org/migration
EMAIL technicalsupport@rsc.org

Text to send to your academics, students and researchers about the new RSC Publishing platform

ACCESS 1 MILLION JOURNAL ARTICLES & BOOK CHAPTERS IN ONE SIMPLE INTEGRATED SEARCH search faster • navigate smarter • connect more

Just launched, the new RSC Publishing platform has been created in consultation with the international scientific and library community. Together we have identified the best and most valued interface and features that connect you with the highest quality scientific research.

Search the new RSC Publishing platform at www.rsc.org/publishing

ChemSpider Wins Two Awards and is Now Available on Mobile Devices

After the success of winning the 2010 Bio-IT World Best Practices Award for contributions to community chemistry in May 2010, ChemSpider was again recognised in June by winning the Innovative Software Award at the iExpo/KM Forum 2010.

Now available on mobile devices, ChemSpider provides access to millions of chemical structures and integration to a multitude of other online services. ChemSpider is fast becoming the richest single source of structure-based chemistry information.

Better still, it's freely available for anyone to use.

For more information on ChemSpider

GO TO www.chemspider.com

For mobile devices

GO TO cs.m.chemspider.com

EMAIL support@rsc.org

Impact Factors, Price List and New RSC Publishing Catalogue 2011

Recently we have made a few announcements including pricing, impact factors and new journals and these can be downloaded online in PDF:

- new price list for 2011
- 2009 Thomson Reuters ISI Impact Factors for our RSC journals
- and we now have printed our RSC Publishing Catalogue 2011 – also on the Librarians' Portal

For more information about our resources, email us quoting marketing reference code P10065

New Titles - Catalysis Science & Technology, Chemical Science and Food & Function

RSC Publishing would like to announce our three latest titles

- Catalysis Science & Technology – this journal will focus on both fundamental science and technological aspects of catalysis
- Chemical Science – the new global impact journal for exceptional research from all areas of the chemical sciences, only publishing articles of the highest quality and importance
- Food & Function – our new journal linking chemistry and physics of food with health and nutrition, with the inaugural issue due to follow in October 2010

From launch, the latest issues will be made freely available to all registered readers via the website. For online institutional access to all free content – register online

N.B. Subscribers to RSC Journals Packages A and A+ with registered IP address/es will be provided access automatically.

Freely Available Access Titles

When RSC Publishing introduces a new journal, we give online access to the first two volumes, a useful tool for libraries, information specialists, students, academics and researchers. This will be set up by IP address.

1. Analytical Methods
2. Catalysis Science & Technology (just announced)
3. Chemical Science
4. Food & Function
5. Integrative Biology
6. MedChemComm
7. Metallomics
8. Nanoscale
9. Polymer Chemistry

Sign up on our website.

For more information on RSC journals and the subscription packages available, email us quoting marketing reference code P10065 or go to our website

New eBooks and Books for 2010

eBooks

RSC Publishing offers a range of eBook purchase packages available to our librarians and information specialists. To date in 2010, we have now published 26 eBooks.

For more information on all the latest, high quality RSC eBooks, email us quoting marketing reference code P10065 or go to our eBooks website

Books

The NEW RSC Nanoscience and Nanotechnology Set

Launched in 2005 with the publication of C N Ram Rao and A Govindaraj's Nanotubes and Nanowires, the RSC Nanoscience and Nanotechnology book series presents the latest research and developments in the field via comprehensive monographs.

The RSC Publishing is now pleased to offer a collection of the first 10 volumes in the series as one complete package; a broad digest of current thinking and research in the field and ideal reading for graduates and professionals in academia and industry code P10065 or go to our Books website

Events

Here are some of the library focused events that we will be exhibiting until the end of the year:

- Fall 2010 ACS National Exposition – August, Boston, USA
- ADBU – September, Lyon, France
- KESLI – September, Gyeongju City, South Korea
- 11th Eurasia Conference on Chemical Sciences - October, Dead Sea, Jordan
- Frankfurt Book Fair – October, Frankfurt, Germany
- Pharma-Bio-Med – November, Seville, Spain
- Online Information – December, London, UK

Please do come and see us on our stands to talk about your needs and how we can help.

Well done to our three librarians who visited the RSC stand at SLA 2010 in New Orleans and won the daily book prize draw for Garlic and Other Alliums

1. Linda Shackle, Arizona State University
2. Judith Currano, University of Pennsylvania
3. Norah Xiao, University of Southern California

More Information

To request a FREE trial, to book an appointment with a representative and discuss your needs or if you have any queries email us quoting marketing reference code P10065 or go to our Publishing website

Thank you for your time.

Kind regards

Louise

Louise Peck, Library Marketing Specialist
Royal Society of Chemistry
www.rsc.org/publishing

RSC Publishing

www.rsc.org/publishing

