

Dear Colleague

Happy New Year, and welcome to the latest issue of RSC Notes, keeping you up-to-date with what's happening in RSC Publishing. In this issue:

- New journals – sign up for free access today
- Renewals and grace period
- Out and about

You are welcome to contact us if you have any comments, questions or feedback.

Kind regards

Valerie Simpson
Product Marketing Manager

PS Please pass this on to any colleagues who you think would be interested - they can also sign up to receive their own copy. If you feel that you are not the appropriate person to receive these newsletters, please let us know.

Free access to new journals - have you registered yet?

The first issue of both our new journals: Integrative Biology and Metallomics are now freely available online. Have you signed up for free online institutional access to the entire 2009 and 2010 content yet? Make sure your readers don't miss out! Register for Integrative Biology here and for Metallomics here.

Plus, there's still time to register for free online institutional access to 2008 and 2009 content of Energy & Environmental Science – Volume 2, issue 1 has already been published (Note: if you are a Package A and A+ customer, you do not need to register as you have automatic online access to all three new journals if we already have your IP address).

Usage Statistics

Due to unforeseen technical difficulties, we are not yet able to provide usage statistics for the latter part of 2008. We apologise for the delay, and wish to assure you that we're working very diligently to get figures to you as quickly as possible.

Renewals and grace period

If you have yet to renew your subscription to any RSC journal, please be aware that it is not our policy to extend the grace period for electronic journals beyond 31st January. There is no grace period for print journals. Therefore to continue to access content from your preferred journals, you should renew your subscription now. If you have any problems, please contact the Sales team.
