The diagram shows the sensitivity of different classification methods. The methods compared are SVM (RBF), SVM (Polynomial), SVM (linear), NB, ANN, and RF. The x-axis represents the different methods, and the y-axis represents sensitivity percentage. The black bars represent CFS selected features, and the grey bars represent ReliefF Top 16 ranked features. The sensitivity values range from 0.7 to 1.0.