The image contains a chemical structure with labels indicating various chemical shifts in ppm. The structure is a phosphine ligand bonded to a nickel center, with additional atoms and functional groups present. The spectrum shows multiple peaks at different ppm values, indicating the presence of various chemical environments in the molecule.