Supporting Information

High photocatalytic activity of oxychloride CaBiO$_2$Cl under visible light irradiation

Rui Shi$^{a,b}$, Tongguang Xu$^b$, Yongfa Zhu$^{a,c}$,, Jun Zhou$^{b,}$

$^a$ Department of Chemistry, Tsinghua University, Beijing, 100084, China

$^b$ Beijing Third Class Tobacco Supervision Station, Beijing 101121, China

$^c$ Jiangsu Key Laboratory of Atmospheric Environment Monitoring and Pollution Control, Nanjing University of Information Science and Technology, Nanjing 210044, China

Figure S1. XRD pattern of BiOCl.
Figure S2. The picture of the photocatalytic instruments under UV light (A) and visible-light irradiation ($\lambda > 400$ nm) (B).
Figure S3. XRD pattern of CaBiO$_2$Cl calcinated at 900 °C before (a) and after (b) MB degradation under UV light irradiation.