Electronic Supporting Information

A Novel, Efficient and Magnetically Retrievable Silica Based Organic-Inorganic Hybrid Copper(II) Nanocatalyst: A Greener Platform For Aerobic N-alkylation of Amines

R.K. Sharma*, Yukti Monga, Aditi Puri and Garima Gaba

Department of Chemistry, University of Delhi, Delhi, India

Figure S1. Size distribution of MNP particles
Figure S2: Individual FT-IR Spectra

FT-IR spectra of MNPs
FT-IR spectra of SMPs
FT-IR spectra of ASMPs
FT-IR spectra of AcTp@ASMPs
FT-IR spectra of Cu-AcTp@ASMPs
Figure S3 Magnetization curves of the recovered catalyst after 10\textsuperscript{th} reaction cycle
Figure S4 SEM micrograph for recovered nanocatalyst
GC-MS Chromatograms