Rational design of TiO$_2$-V$_2$O$_5$–C nanostructure grafted by N-doped graphene with enhanced photocatalysis and lithium ion store performances

Guohui Qin$^{a,b}$, Xuan Wu$^{a,b}$, Hongjuan Zhang$^{a,b}$

$^a$ School of chemical Engineering & technology, Tianjin University, Tianjin 300072, China.

$^b$ Synergetic Innovation Center of Chemical Science and Engineering, Tianjin 300072, China.

Directory of contents

Fig S1. Magnified XRD patterns of the sample GN-TV-C

Fig S2. N$_2$ adsorption and desorption isotherm (A) and pore size distribution GN-TV-C(B)

Fig S3. Charge/discharge curves CV curves of the composite GN-TV-C with different amounts of V$_2$O$_5$

Fig S4. The TEM image of GN-TV–C after 1000$^{th}$ cycles.
Fig S1. Magnified XRD patterns of the sample GN-TV-C

Fig S2. $N_2$ adsorption and desorption isotherm (a) and pore size distribution GN-TV-C(b)
Fig S3. Charge/discharge curves CV curves of the composite GN-TV-C with different amounts of V$_2$O$_5$.

Fig S4. The TEM image of GN-TV–C after 1000$^{th}$ cycles.