Welcome Message

On behalf of the Phytochemical Society of Europe (PSE), the Organizing Committee is honored to announce the congress “Natural Products in Drug Discovery and Human Health” that will be held from the 28th to 31st of July 2019 at Faculty of Pharmacy, University of Lisbon.

During four days, this international event will bring together senior scientists, young researchers, and PhD students from all over the world to share their latest advances.

The attractive program of NatProdDDH will cover the state-of-the-art in Natural Products research, up to their application as value-added products for human health. The scientific program will include plenary sessions of eminent researchers in the field, short lectures and poster presentations.

We are looking forward to meeting you in Lisbon!
