The aim of this conference is to bring together leading experts in the field of priority substances listed in Annex X of the Water Framework Directive (WFD).

The event will discuss potential issues associated with the implementation of the Directive 2013/39/EC relating to Priority Substances in the field of water policy. It will also help to disseminate information on the development and validation of new test methods for monitoring priority pollutants.

The cost of the sampling and analysis is going to be excessive unless some sanity is brought to bear on the proposed environmental quality standard limits associated with this new Directive. This meeting will aim to establish what is cost-effectively feasible.

Attendees

All stakeholders with a responsibility, or interest in environmental water quality. In particular, water companies, regulators, NGOs, research organisations, academia and land and water agencies.

Posters

Posters are being accepted until the closing date of Friday 31 October 2014. Please send all submissions to kevin@thackie.co.uk

The WSF focuses on the application of chemical sciences in the management of the water cycle and the impact of these activities on the natural environment. WSF attracts members, and thus expertise, from many sectors within the water community.

SCI is a forward-looking multidisciplinary membership organisation connecting industry, government and academia to advance the application of science for the benefit of society.

SCI offers a network of contacts spanning the chemical and chemical-using industries, together with a rolling programme of conferences, events and prestigious awards which help further knowledge and support those involved in the sector, no matter what stage they're at in their careers.

SCI is the publisher of many well respected peer-reviewed journals and industry leader Chemistry & Industry magazine (C&I).

Join SCI today to network with people across the chemical and chemical-using industries and make connections that spark innovation, get careers moving, and sets business ideas rolling. Visit www.soci.org/membership to find out more and join us.
