Conflict of interest disclosure

All participants have to disclose all relationships with a commercial or financial interest if the relationship occurred within the past 12 months of the involvement in the activity and any relationship from the past that an independent observer might reasonably judge to be of influence down to the present day. A conflict of interest disclosure form must be filled for each NanoImpactNet activity and submitted to the coordinator.

Financial relationships (with a commercial interest) are those relationships in which the individual benefits by receiving a salary, royalty, intellectual property rights, consulting fee, honoraria, ownership interest (e.g. stocks, stock options or other ownership interest, excluding diversified mutual funds) or other financial benefit. Financial benefits are usually associated with roles such as employment, management position, independent contractor (including contracted research), consulting, speaking and teaching, membership on advisory committees or review panels, board membership, and other activities for which remuneration is received or expected. Also considered are financial relationships of a spouse or partner. Non-personal interests such as fees, grants etc, paid to the group or department also will have to be disclosed. Public research funding is not considered to be commercial interest.

Do you have a relationship as described above?

If you answered yes, you are considered by NanoImpactNet to have a conflict of interest which must be disclosed. Please specify in a statement below what type of potential conflict of interest you have. This statement will be made available to the public.
