Dear Colleagues,

We cordially invite you to participate in the 23rd IUPAC International Conference on Chemistry Education to be held at the University of Toronto from 13-18 July, 2014. This will be the first time since 1989 that this conference has come to Canada.

The theme of the conference is communications. Our goal is to investigate how best to forge global links in the chemistry teaching and learning communities and to consider best practices in exploiting technological advances in communications in order to establish innovative learning partnerships. Symposia will focus on communication amongst chemistry professionals, educators, students and the lay community.

We look forward to welcoming the global chemical education community to Canada.

About Toronto

Toronto is Canada's largest city and its cultural, entertainment and financial capital. The city is the 5th largest in North America with more than 5.5 million people in the Greater Toronto Area. One-quarter of Canada's population is located within 160 km of the city, mainly along the corridor leading to Niagara Falls. Its southern border is Lake Ontario which separates it from the State of New York. It is a hub of multiculturalism as illustrated by its web site which is available in over 50 languages (www.toronto.ca). Multicultural festivals abound throughout the summer months.
