OIL AND GAS PIPELINES IN THE MIDDLE EAST

WELCOME

Dear colleague

On behalf of The Energy Exchange, it gives me great pleasure to welcome you to our 2009 Oil and Gas Pipelines in the Middle East Conference.

2009 is set to be a challenging year for many of us and a time when we need to ensure wherever possible that we are creating the right opportunities for new business development.

What better way to do this than to get together with the Middle East's leading oil and gas pipeline executives at the 9th Annual Middle East Oil and Gas Pipeline Conference.

With an agenda designed in conjunction with industry experts to keep you right up to date with the latest developments impacting the regions sector, from strategic pipeline projects right through to new technology developments to aide your operations, we guarantee that this really is the only business and networking meeting in 2009 that you need to attend!

Industry executives are already confirming their participation at the regions one and only one stop pipeline shop. Where will you be?

You will see that this year we have refreshed our brochure making it clearer and easier for you to see at a glance how this conference has evolved in addition to the calibre of speakers that we have attracted. This change is also reflected in our website at www.theenergyexchange.co.uk/mepipes09 where you will find details of the latest updates to the programme.

The past eight years have been very exciting for our Pipeline series of conferences and with the 2009 Meeting taking place over the course of three constructively focused business days, I would personally like to invite you to join us in Abu Dhabi.

My kindest regards

Claire Pallen
Director, Middle East Operations

WHY THIS CONFERENCE?

With both worldwide and regional demands for oil and gas continuing to increase, it remains vitally important that supplies are able to reach the market quickly and efficiently.

Pipelines are vital in creating an effective transportation network, thus new pipeline projects are welcomed by the industry and keeping existing pipelines maintained with full operational ability continues to be an area of ongoing importance.

Our 2009 Annual Meeting will address the issues right at the heart of pipeline challenges including: integrity management, rehabilitation and maintenance, inspection, on-site repair and development and construction.

New for 2009, we are pleased to announce the introduction of our specialist Middle East Pipeline Rehabilitation Procedures and Methodology Workshop.

Pipeline Rehabilitation has always been a major concern for pipeline operators who are constantly looking for new and improved rehabilitation techniques to improve the lifespan of their pipelines in order for them to remain operational.

The 2009 Workshop will delve deep into leading rehabilitation techniques being utilised within the Middle East enabling participants to take away practical insights and key learning's.
