

Enzymatic Filter for Improved Separation of Output Signals in Enzyme Logic Systems towards ‘Sense and Treat’ Medicine

Shay Mailloux,^a Oleksandr Zavalov,^a Nataliia Guz,^a Evgeny Katz,^a Vera Bocharova^{*b}

^a Department of Chemistry and Biomolecular Science, Clarkson University, Potsdam NY 13699-5810, USA,

^b Chemical Sciences Division, Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, Tennessee 37830-6197, USA,

* Corresponding authors:

E-mail: bocharovav@ornl.gov ;

Tel: +1-(865)576-6490 ;

Fax: +1-(865)5744961;

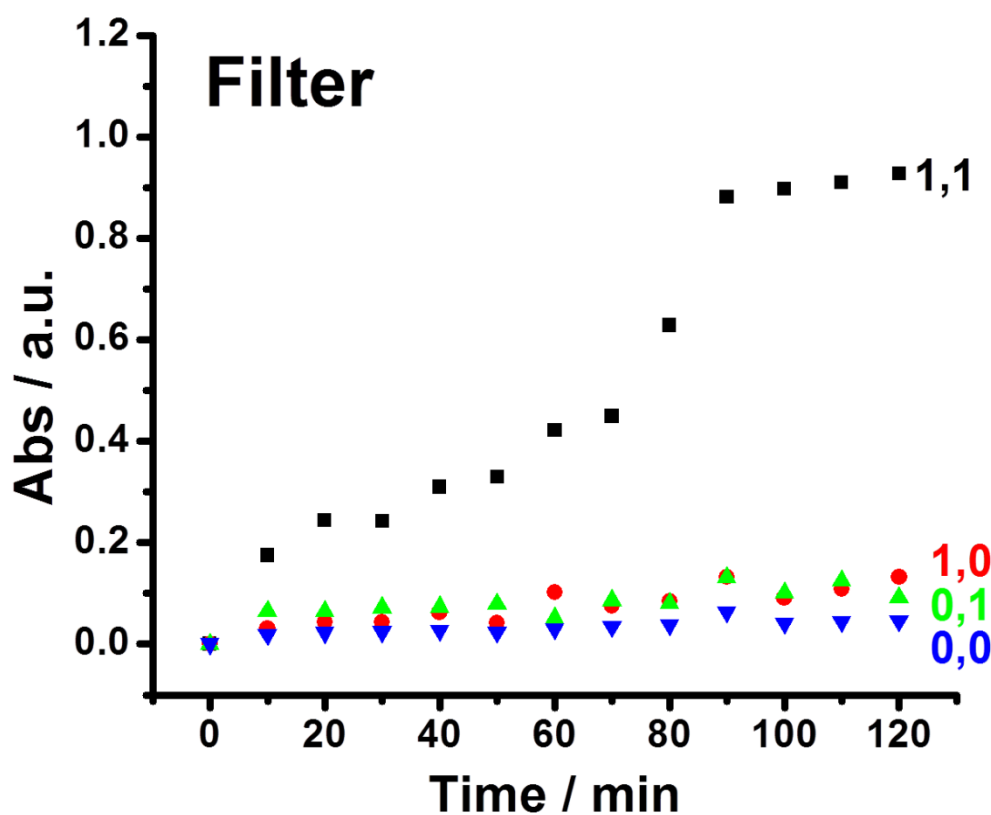

Figure S1. The kinetics of the production of citric acid from the biocatalytic cascade for all input combinations in the presence of the filter

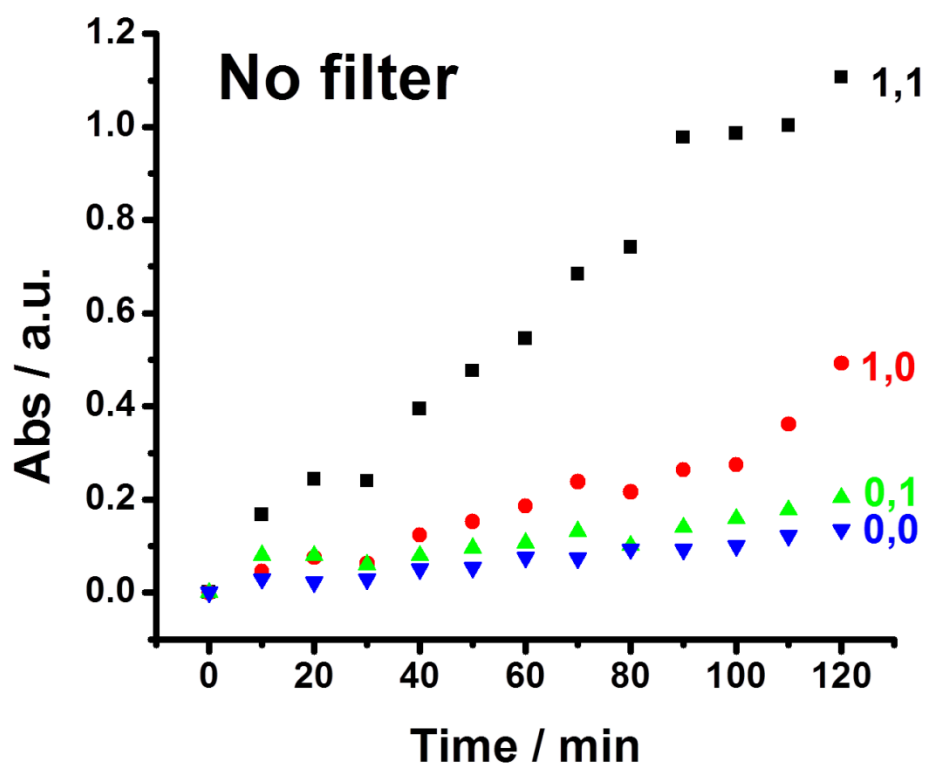

Figure S2. The kinetics of the production of citric acid from the biocatalytic cascade for all input combinations in the absence of the filter

