

Supplementary File

The SEM images show below were taken from the centre(left) and the edge(right) of the sample coated with 0.1wt% ink. Rather similar surface morphologies are observed indicating that the dip-coating process we have adopted is an effective one with little/negligible filtering-effect.

