Electronic Supplementary Material (ESI) for Soft Matter.

Supporting Information

Liquid Crystalline Epoxy Networks with Exchangeable Disulfide Bonds

Yuzhan Li[a], Yuehong Zhang[a], Orlando Rios[b], Jong K. Keum[c], and Michael R. Kessler[a,*]

[a] School of Mechanical and Materials Engineering, Washington State University, Pullman, WA 99164, USA
[b] Deposition Sciences Group, Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, TN 37831, USA
[c] Center for Nanophase Materials Sciences, Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, TN 37831, USA
[*] PO Box 642920, Pullman, WA, 99164-2920; Phone (509) 335-8654; Email: MichaelR.Kessler@wsu.edu

List of supplementary figures and videos

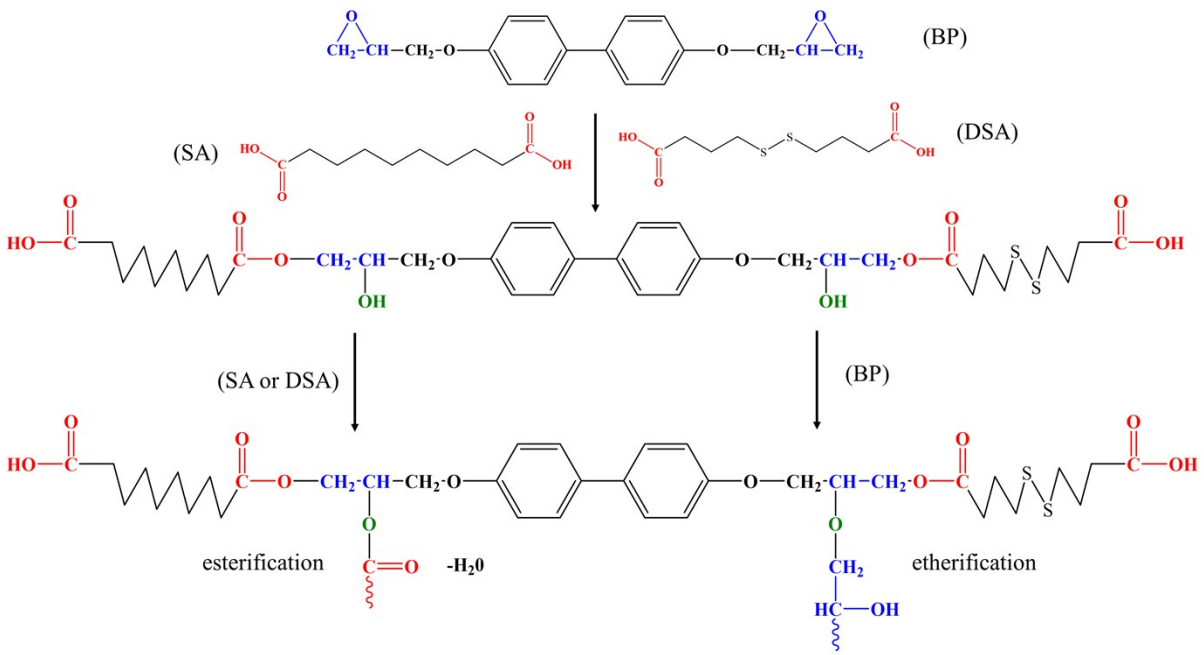

Figure S1. Synthesis route and reaction mechanism of LCEN.

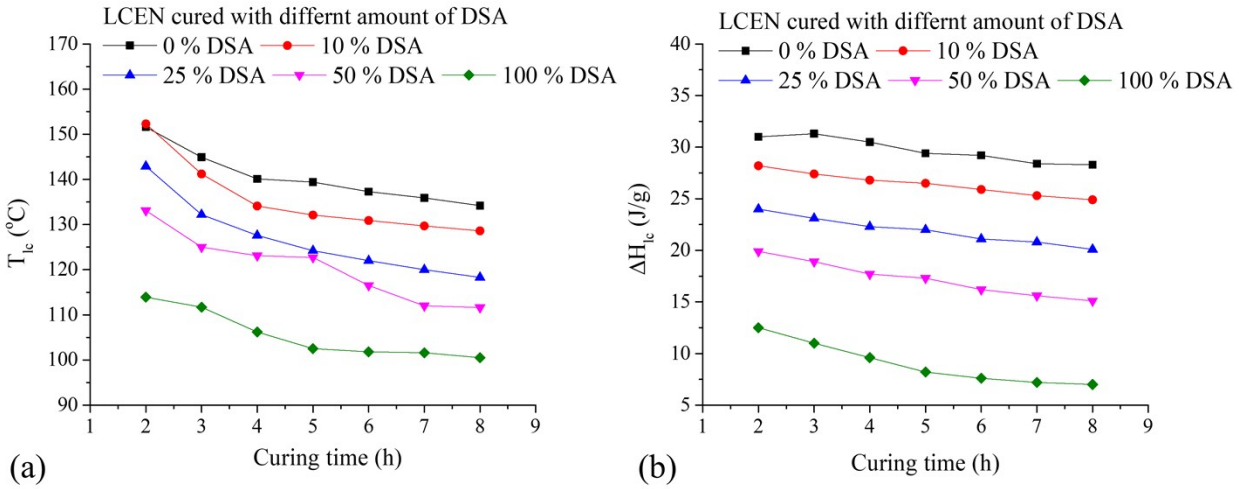

Figure S2. Evolution of LC transition temperature (T_{lc}) and the related enthalpy (ΔH_{lc}) of LCENs cured with different amount of DSA.