

Supplementary information

Indocyanine green conjugated lipid microbubbles as an ultrasound-responsive drug delivery system for dual-imaging guided tumor-targeted therapy

Yan Li^{1a}, Wenqi Huang^{1b*}, Chunyan Li^c, and Xiaoteng Huang^d

^a Department of Ultrasound, the First People's Hospital of Shangqiu City, Shangqiu, Henan 476100, China.

^b Medical Imaging Center, the First People's Hospital of Shangqiu City, Shangqiu, Henan 476100, China.

^c Department of Neurology, the First People's Hospital of Shangqiu City, Shangqiu, Henan 476100, China.

^d Henan University of Chinese Medicine, Zhengzhou, Henan 450046, China.

*Correspondence: Wenqi Huang

E-mail: huangwq0613@sohu.com; Tel: +86-13781446699

¹ These authors contribute equally.

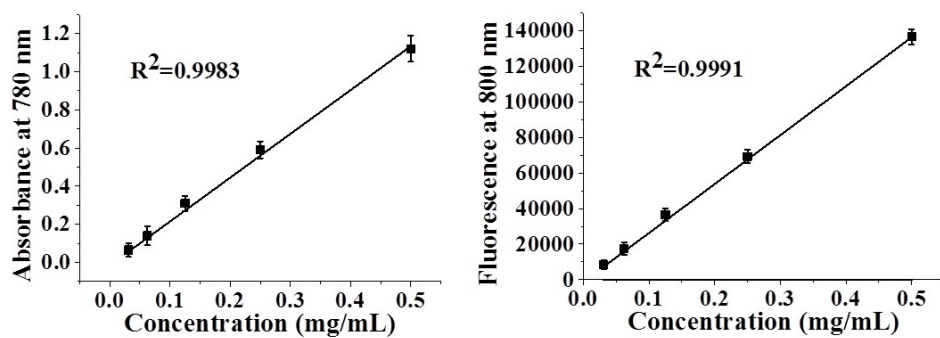

Figure S1. The abs. and Flu. spectra of the MBs at concentration of 0.5, 0.25, 0.125, 0.0625, 0.03125 mg/mL.

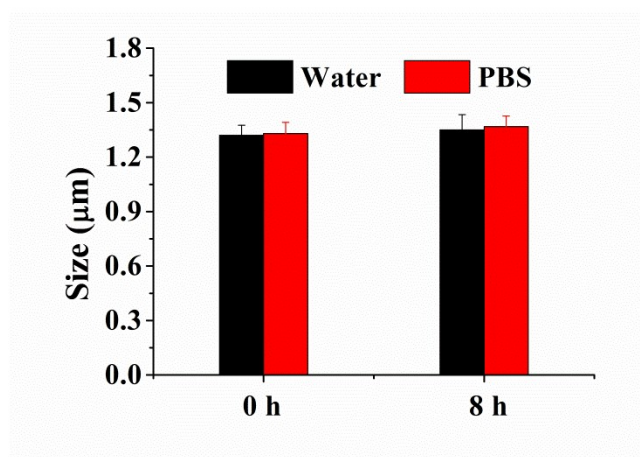

Figure S2. The size change of RILMBs-FA in water and PBS after 8 h using a Zetasizer.