

Electronic supplementary information for

Ionic conductivity of deep eutectic solvents: The role of orientational dynamics and glassy freezing

Daniel Reuter, Catharina Binder, Peter Lunkenheimer* and Alois Loidl

Experimental Physics V, Center for Electronic Correlations and Magnetism, University of Augsburg, 86135 Augsburg, Germany.

* Corresponding author. E-mail: peter.lunkenheimer@physik.uni-augsburg.de

DSC results

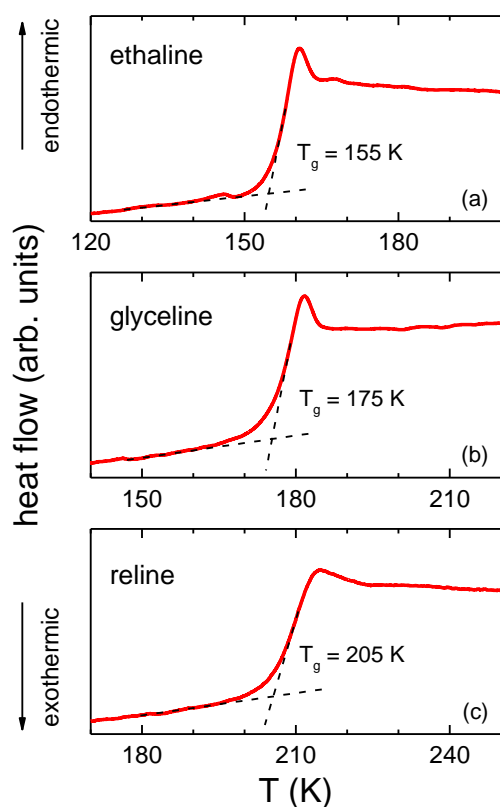

Fig. S1 DSC results on the three DESSs treated in the present work as obtained under heating with 10 K/min.

Figure S1 shows the temperature-dependent DSC heat flow for the three investigated DESSs. The glass temperatures were estimated by the onset method as indicated by the dashed lines.