

Fig. S1: Interval of MW penetration depth calculated for a spent LCO battery BM, containing 20% of graphite. Each blue rectangle represents an interval, showing the variability in the MW penetration depth for each temperature, depending on the BM density and dielectric parameters.