

Supplemental Materials for

Stacking Fault Stabilization and Strengthening Mechanisms in CoCrNi Alloys

Shiyi Wang ^a, Tao Fu ^{a, b, *}, Mengye Duan ^a, Hao Hu ^a, Xu Shen ^a,

Lingbao Hu ^a, Shayuan Weng ^{c, *}, Xianghe Peng ^{a, *}

^a Department of Engineering Mechanics, Chongqing University, Chongqing 400044, China

^b State Key Laboratory of Coal Mining Disaster Dynamics and Control, Chongqing University, Chongqing, 400044, China

^c College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, Hohai University, Changzhou, 213022, China

Corresponding authors.

Address: Department of Engineering Mechanics, Chongqing University, Chongqing 400044, China

E-mails: futao@cqu.edu.cn (T. F.); syweng@hhu.edu.cn (S. W.); xhpeng@cqu.edu.cn (X. P.)

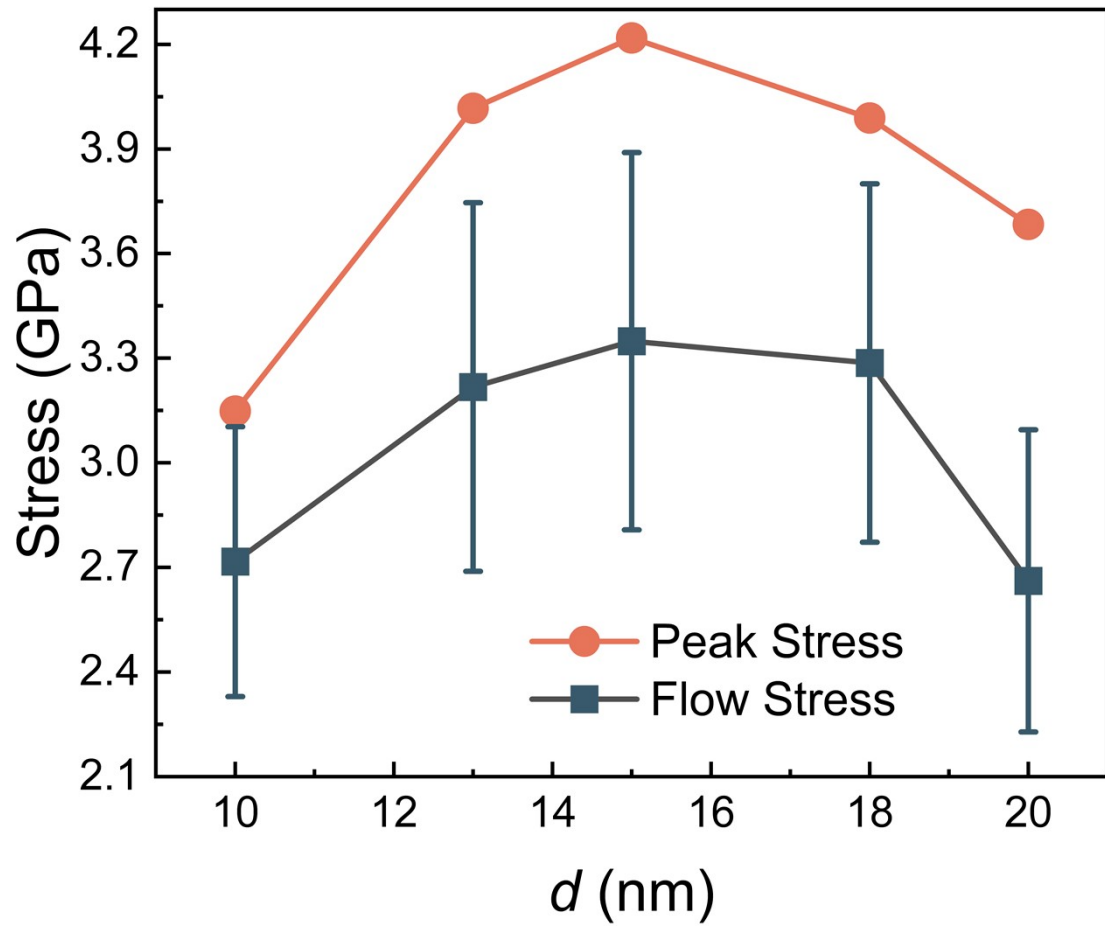

Fig. S1 Variation of peak and average flow stress of CoCrNi with d at $\lambda = 5.54$ nm.