

Synthesis of Cl@Ti₃C₂ for Supercapacitor Application and First - Principles Insights into its Enhanced Electrochemical Properties

Sheheera Irfan^{a †}, Eisha Naeem^{a †}, Yasir A. Haleem^{a*}, Muhammad Usman^{a*}, Muhammad Arshad^{b*}, Abdul Ghafar Wattoo^a, Abdullah K. Alanazi^c

^aInstitute of Physics, Khwaja Fareed University of Engineering and Information Technology (KFUEIT), Rahim Yar Khan-64200, Pakistan.

^b Nano Sciences and Technology Department, National Centre for Physics, Quaid-e-Azam University Campus, Islamabad-45320, Pakistan.

^c Department of Chemistry, College of Science, Taif University, Taif, Saudi Arabia.

Corresponding Author: Yasir A. Haleem (hiyasir@mail.ustc.edu.cn/Yasir.haleem@kfueit.edu.pk)

Muhammad Usman (zakrian2003@gmail.com), Muhammad Arshad

(arshad_pr2002@yahoo.com)

Figure SI 1. (a) SEM micrograph of MAX Phase (b) Magnified image of MAX Phase.

