

Supporting Information for:

Binding Sn-Based Nanoparticles on Graphene as Anode of Rechargeable Lithium-Ion Batteries

Zhenhai Wen,¹ Shumao Cui,¹ Haejune Kim,¹ Shun Mao,¹ Kehan Yu,¹ Ganhua Lu,¹ Haihui Pu,¹ Ou Mao² and Junhong Chen^{1,*}

1 Department of Mechanical Engineering, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, 3200 North Cramer Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53211, USA

2 Global Technology & Innovation, Power Solutions, Johnson Controls, Inc., Milwaukee, WI 53209

E-mail: jhchen@uwm.edu

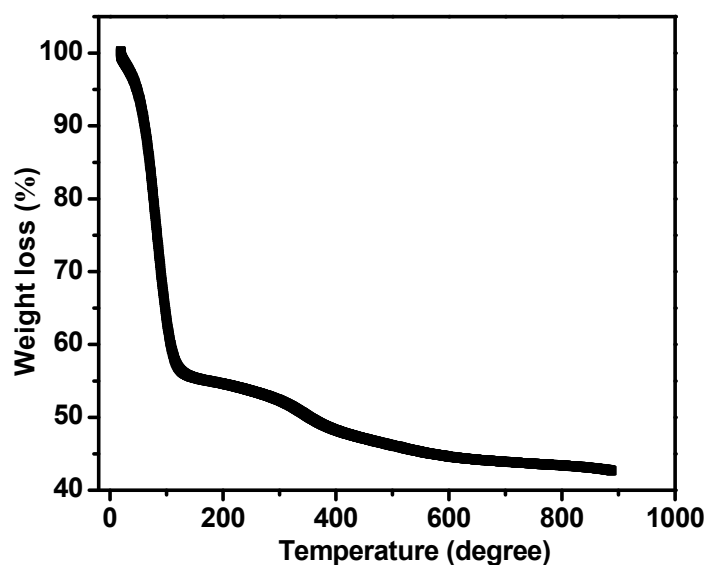

Figure S1. Thermal gravimetric analysis of the C-SnO₂-Graphene sample.

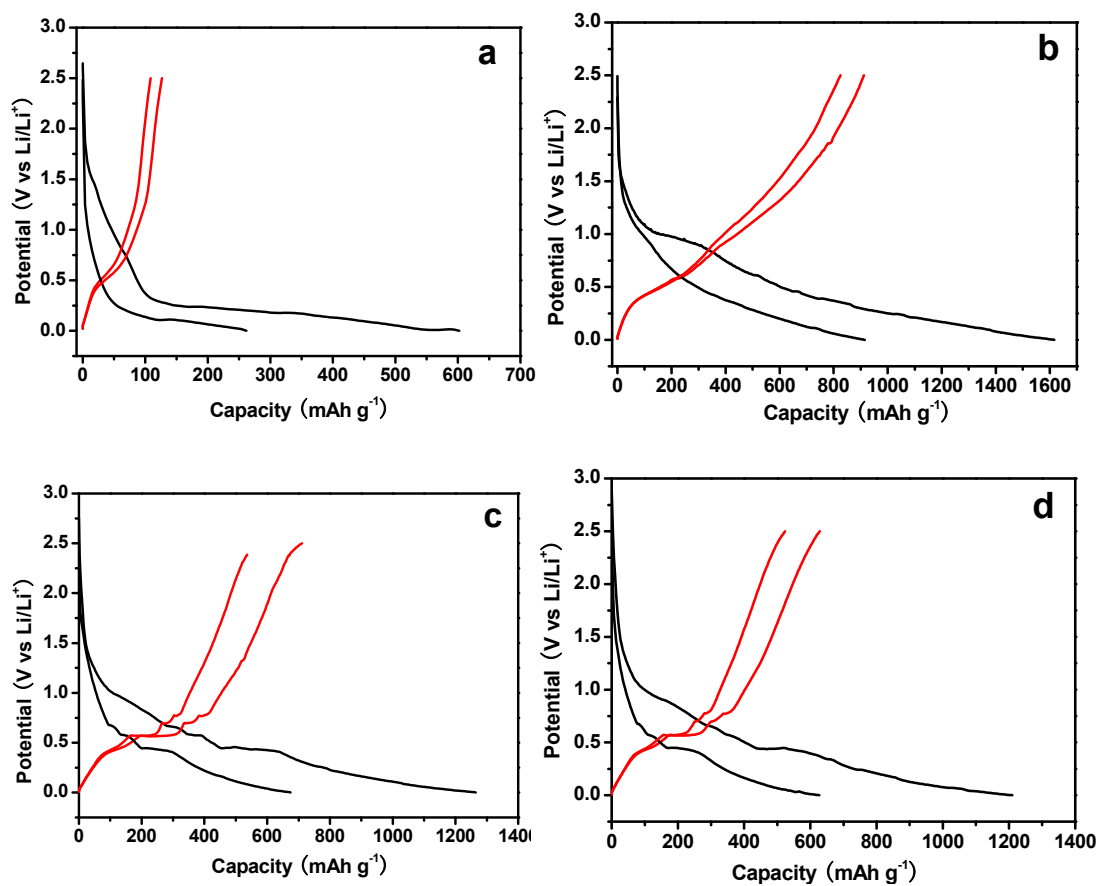

Figure S2. Charge/discharge profiles for (a) SnO₂/C/G-250, (b) SnO_x/C/G-550, (c) Sn/C/G-750, and (d) Sn/C/G-900.