

Supplementary Data

We had also tested the elliptical-cap model in another gradient surface. The result shows that the net force predicted by the model is in reasonable agreement with experimental data.

