

Supplementary material

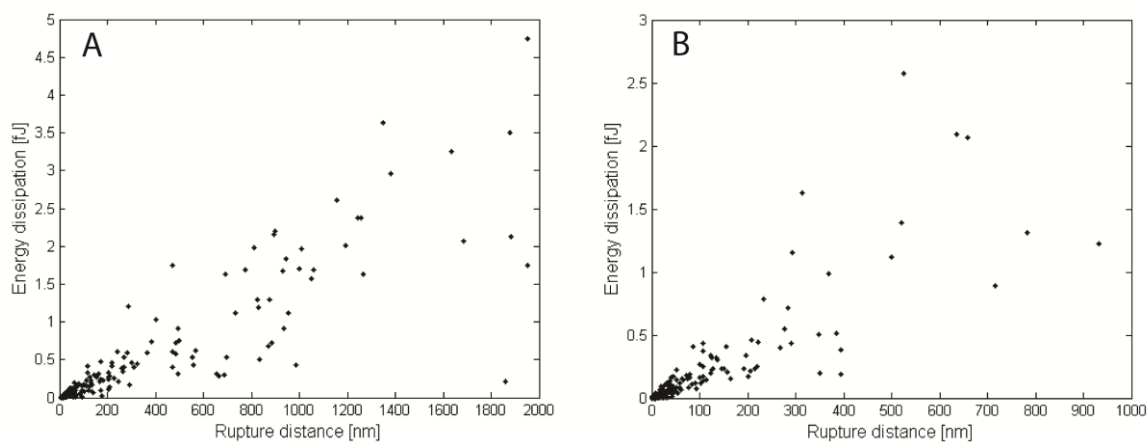

Figure S1. Correlation between the amount of dissipated energy and the final detachment distance for the case of interaction between a heavily demineralized gastrolith probe (A) and a native gastrolith sample and between a CaCO₃ probe and a native gastrolith sample (B), respectively.