

Supporting Information

Gyroidal Mesoporous Multifunctional Nanocomposites via Atomic Layer Deposition

Jörg G. Werner¹, Maik R. J. Scherer², Ulrich Steiner², Ulrich Wiesner¹

¹Department of Materials Science and Engineering, Cornell University, Ithaca NY, USA

²Cavendish Laboratory, Department of Physics, University of Cambridge, Cambridge, UK

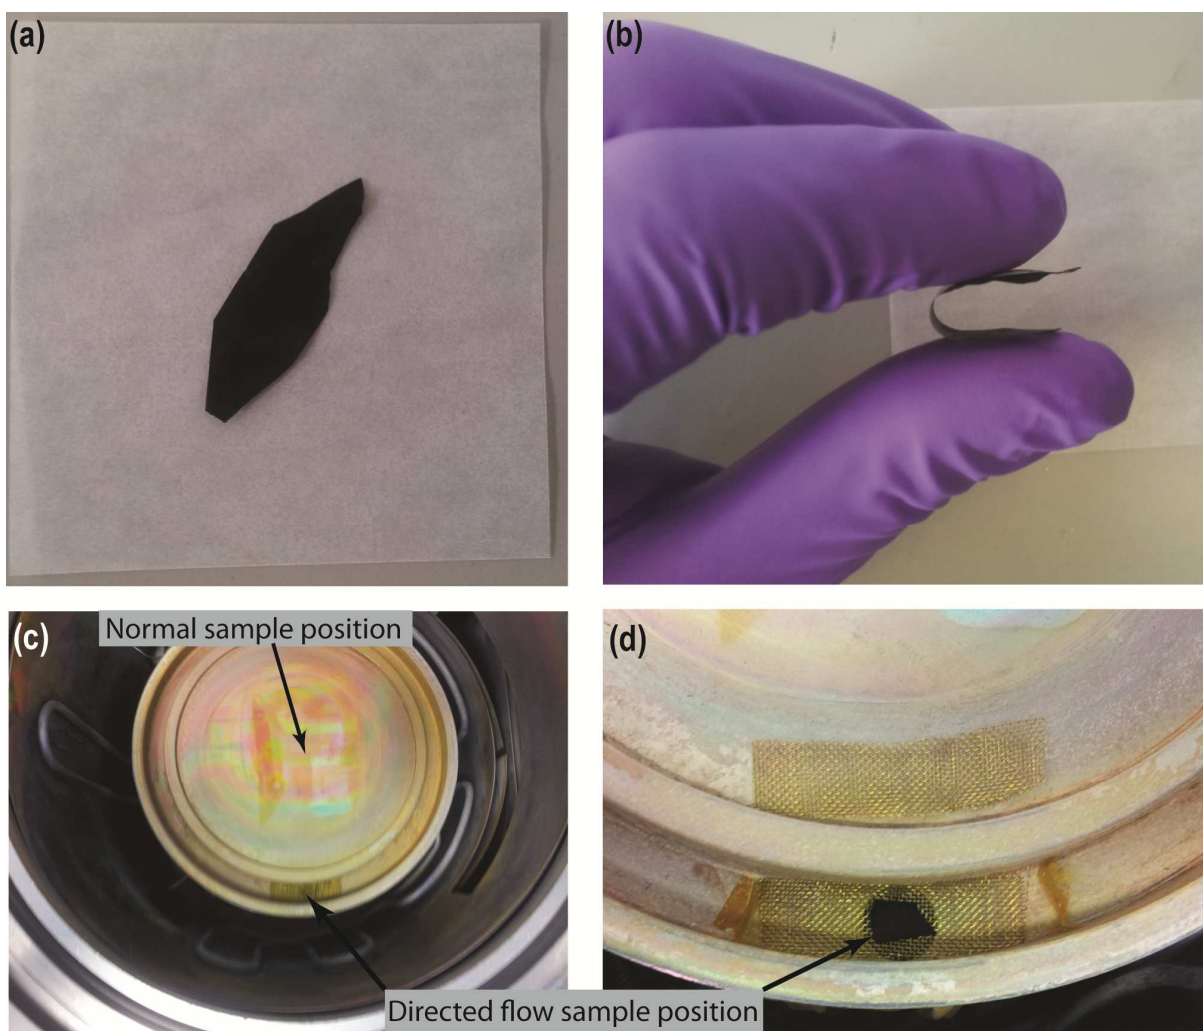

Figure S1. Photographs of a large, flexible gyroidal mesoporous resin template (a+b) and of the Beneq TFS200 ALD system used for part of the samples described in this report, indicating the sample position for the normal "flow over" and the "directed flow" procedure.