

Supporting Information

Scribable Multi-walled Carbon Nanotube-Silicon Nanocomposite: A Viable Lithium-Ion Battery System

Rigved Epur¹, Madhumati Ramanathan², Moni K. Datta², Prashanth H. Jampani², Bharat Gattu³, and Prashant N. Kumta^{1,2,3,4,†}

¹Department of Mechanical Engineering and Materials Science, University of Pittsburgh,
Pittsburgh, PA 15261 – USA

²Department of Bioengineering, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, PA 15261 – USA

³Department of Chemical and Petroleum Engineering, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, PA
15261 – USA

⁴Center for Complex Engineered Multifunctional Materials, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh,
PA 15261 – USA

Figure-S2: TGA plot of CNT/Si heterostructures performed in air from 25°C to 1000°C at a heating rate of 10°C/min

