

Electronic supplement information:

Synthesis of Potential Theranostic System Consisting of Methotrexate-Immobilized (3- Aminopropyl)trimethoxysilane Coated α -Bi₂O₃ Nanoparticles for Cancer Treatment

Kathrin Bogusz^{1,2,3}, Moeava Tehei^{2,3,4}, Callum Stewart^{1,2,3}, Marjorie McDonald^{3,4},
Dean Cardillo^{1,2,3}, Michael Lerch^{3,4}, Stéphanie Corde^{4,5}, *Anatoly Rosenfeld*⁴, *Hua
Kun Liu*¹, Konstantin Konstantinov^{*1,6}

¹*Institute for Superconducting and Electronic Materials, Australian Institute for Innovative Materials, University of Wollongong, NSW, Australia*

²*School of Chemistry, University of Wollongong, Wollongong, NSW, Australia*

³*Illawarra Health and Medical Research Institute, University of Wollongong, NSW, Australia*

⁴*Centre for Medical and Radiation Physics, Faculty of Engineering and Information Science,
University of Wollongong, NSW, Australia*

⁵*Radiation Oncology Department, Prince of Wales Hospital, Randwick, NSW2031, Australia*

⁶*School of Mechanical, Materials, and Mechatronic Engineering, Faculty of Engineering and Information Science, University of Wollongong, NSW, Australia*

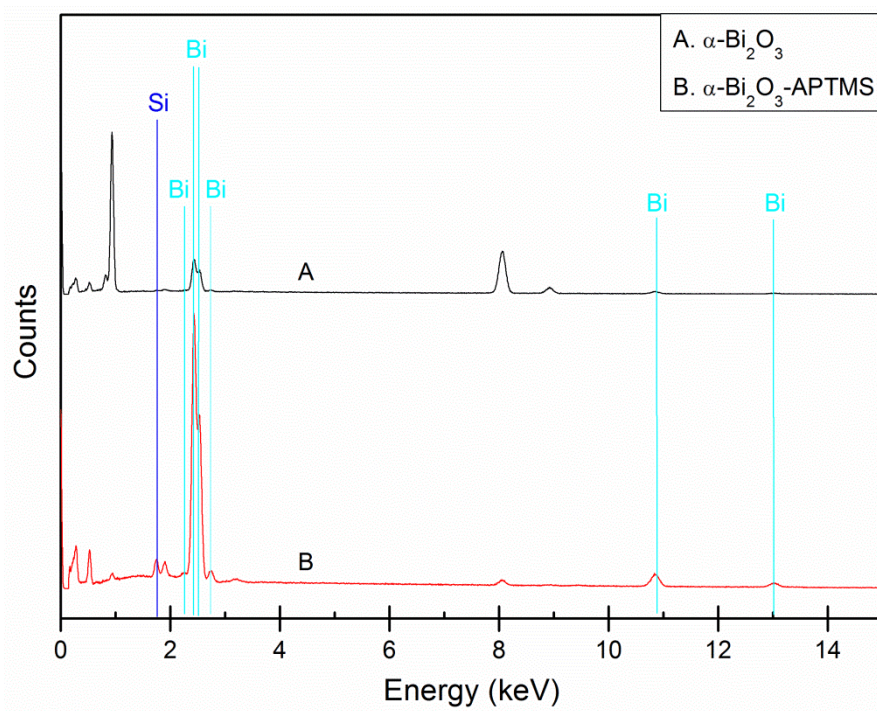

Fig. S1: EDS spectra of (A) uncoated $\alpha\text{-Bi}_2\text{O}_3$ NPs and (B) APTMS coated $\alpha\text{-Bi}_2\text{O}_3$ NPs.